Freedom Discussion™
Defining your goals for liberty, freedom and success: how, why and when

If you are a business owner, president or CEO, having liberty, freedom and self-determination in your work is vital to your professional and personal happiness. Exercising these principles is also key to handling complex and difficult issues and achieving your goals. If obstacles are getting in your way or you have lost sight of these principles, The Entrepreneurial Freedom Program™ developed by Monticello Strategies™ can help you refocus on these principles and discover greater satisfaction in your work.

It's your life. Be in control.

What is the most valuable hour you can spend on your business this year?

Monticello Strategies™ is a principles-based business solutions firm that excels in assisting business leaders with business strategy, executive focus, management consulting, exit strategies and many other areas. We are highly skilled in solving the complex problems that business leaders face in these very uncertain times.

Our proprietary program, The Entrepreneurial Freedom Program™, is based on the principles of our Founding Fathers — liberty, freedom, the right to self-determination and the pursuit of happiness. Numerous clients have engaged our program and achieved a level of personal and professional freedom and happiness that they had not envisioned as being possible.

Raymond E. Pinard, principal and Chief Freedom Architect™ of Monticello Strategies, has three decades of experience in working with a wide range of companies and their top executives, helping them define their goals and develop an actionable plan that allows them to achieve entrepreneurial freedom. With the vision and focus that Monticello Strategies brings to this process, you can achieve your desired results, too.

Our Freedom Discussion™ could be the most valuable hour you spend on your business this year.

Freedom Story

Exceeding Expectations

A national food manufacturer received an unsolicited offer from an industry buyer and engaged Monticello Strategies. We found that the offer was significantly less than the value of the company. Working with the owners of the company, we developed growth strategies and an exit strategy, which, once implemented, increased the value of the business in 18 months by five times over the initial offer. The business was successfully sold at this higher value. The owners retained a portion of the business, which multiplied in value further over the next several years, and subsequently profited from two more sales transactions. (Three bites at the apple can happen.)
